

May 22, 2022
6th Sunday of Easter
John 14:23-29

Jesus said to his disciples: “Whoever loves me will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our dwelling with him. Whoever does not love me does not keep my words; yet the word you hear is not mine but that of the Father who sent me.

I have told you this while I am with you. The Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything, and remind you of all that I told you. Peace I leave with you, my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give it to you. Do not let your hearts be troubled or afraid. You heard me tell you, ‘I am going away, and I will come back to you.’ If you loved me, you would rejoice that I am going to the Father; for the Father is greater than I. And now I have told you this before it happens, so that when it happens you may believe.”

Background:

For the last five weeks the scripture readings of the Easter Season have reflected on our relationship to the risen Lord. Next Sunday we will celebrate the Feast of the Ascension of the Lord, and the following Sunday will be the Feast of Pentecost. The gospel text for this Sunday offers a glimpse into the early Christians’ first reflection on the relationship between the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. And by introducing the role of the Holy Spirit, the text also prepares us for the upcoming celebration of the great Feast of Pentecost.

The text itself is part of John’s Last Supper account, after Jesus had washed the feet of the disciples. From that perspective, Jesus’ instruction would help the disciples prepare for the events of the Passion.

John’s community, a generation later, were also dealing with the absence of Jesus in another way. They relied on the presence of those who had personally known Jesus to help guide them in a new way of life. When the Romans destroyed the temple in Jerusalem in 70 AD, the Christians interpreted this as an expression of God’s anger and anticipated that Jesus’ triumphant return would soon follow. When Jesus did not return, and those who had experienced the living Jesus also began to die, this led to new questions and doubts within the community. Many did not remain faithful.

In John’s gospel, the Holy Spirit is described as having at least three roles. The Advocate is the continuing presence of Jesus on earth after the ascension, and the source of truth, and a source of consolation and peace. “And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Advocate to be with you always, the Spirit of truth, which the world cannot accept, because it neither sees nor knows it. But you know it, because it remains with you, and will be in you, the comforter and advocate.” (John 14:17) And lastly in the text for today, the Holy Spirit reminds the community of the things that Jesus had taught, and testifies to the truth on behalf of Jesus. (John 14:26)

Reflection Questions:

1. Have there been deaths of people whose absence affected how you lived, celebrated, or thought about God?
2. Who are the “wisdom people” in your life?
3. In the first verse of this gospel Jesus says, “Whoever loves me will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our dwelling with him.” How do you experience the truth of Jesus’ promise to you?
4. As you look at the scope of your life, where do you see the presence of the Holy Spirit?
5. How do you think most people think of peace?
6. How do you experience the peace that God brings?

7. John writes his gospel to respond to the doubt, fears, and questions of the Christians of his day. Do you experience doubt or questions in your life?
8. Can you talk with God openly and honestly about your experience of the Holy Spirit working in your life, your own need for reassurance, or some thought or feeling that arose in you from this gospel text?

The gospel background and reflection questions are written by Fr. Paul Gallagher, OFM. They are edited by Sister Anne Marie Lom, OSF and Joe Thiel. The excerpts from the Sunday readings are prepared by Joe Thiel. To be added to the distribution list, send your name and email address to fr.paul.gallagher.ofm@gmail.com.

Our Gospel Reflections are hosted by the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity. Their homepage is <https://fscs-calledtobe.org/>. One link there is labeled Franciscan Gospel Reflections. A click on the icon will take you to the Gospel reflections for the upcoming Sunday. By following this link, you will be able to blog or comment on the reflection questions. The material will be posted on Fridays and will be available until the following Friday when the new material is posted.

Excerpts from the Lectionary for Mass for Use in the Dioceses of the United States of America, second typical edition © 2001, 1998, 1997, 1986, 1970 Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Inc., Washington, DC. Used with permission. All rights reserved. No portion of this text may be reproduced by any means without permission in writing from the copyright owner.

Please include this information when printing or forwarding.

Excerpts from the readings for May 22, 2022, the Sixth Sunday of Easter

Some who had come from Judea were instructing the brothers, "Unless you are circumcised according to the Mosaic practice, you cannot be saved." Because there arose dissension and debate by Paul and Barnabas with them, it was decided that Paul, Barnabas, and some of the others should go up to Jerusalem about this question. The apostles and elders, in agreement with the whole church, decided to choose representatives and to send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas. This is the letter delivered by them: "To the brothers in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia of Gentile origin: Greetings. Since we have heard that some of our number who went out without any mandate from us have upset you with their teachings and disturbed your peace of mind, we have decided to choose representatives and to send them to you along with Barnabas and Paul, who have dedicated their lives to the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. So we are sending Judas and Silas who will also convey this same message by word of mouth: 'It is the decision of the Holy Spirit and of us not to place on you any burden beyond these necessities, namely, to abstain from meat sacrificed to idols, from blood, from meats of strangled animals, and from unlawful marriage. If you keep free of these, you will be doing what is right. Farewell.'"

*O God, let all the nations praise you!
May God have pity on us and bless us; may he let his face shine upon us.
So may your way be known upon earth; among all nations, your salvation.
May the nations be glad and exult because you rule the peoples in equity;
the nations on the earth you guide. May all the peoples praise you, O God!
May God bless us, and may all the ends of the earth fear him!*

The angel took me in spirit and showed me the holy city coming down out of heaven from God. It gleamed with the splendor of God. Its radiance was like that of a precious stone, clear as crystal. It had a massive, high wall, with twelve gates where twelve angels were stationed and on which were inscribed the names of the twelve tribes of the Israelites. Three gates were facing east, three north, three south, and three west. The wall of the city had twelve courses of stones as its foundation, on which were inscribed the twelve names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb. I saw no temple in the city for its temple is the Lord God almighty and the Lamb. The city had no need of sun or moon to shine on it, for the glory of God gave it light, and its lamp was the Lamb.

Jesus said to his disciples: "Whoever loves me will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our dwelling with him. Whoever does not love me does not keep my words; yet the word you hear is not mine but that of the Father who sent me.

"I have told you this while I am with you. The Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything and remind you of all that I told you.

Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give it to you.

Do not be troubled or afraid. You heard me tell you, 'I am going away and I will come back to you.'

If you loved me, you would rejoice that I am going to the Father; for the Father is greater than I.

And now I have told you this before it happens, so that when it happens you may believe."

Excerpts from Acts 15:1-2, 22-29; Psalm 67:2-8; Revelation 21:10-14, 22-23; and John 14:23-29

From Joe:

Friends,

Here are the gospel background and reflection questions for May 22nd, the Sixth Sunday of Easter, as prepared by Franciscan spiritual director Fr. Paul Gallagher. This Sunday will now be the fifth in a row (every Sunday since Easter) where the first reading is from the Acts of the Apostles, the second reading is from Revelation, and the gospel is from John. This week's gospel is from John's chapter 14, where he continues in his Last Supper discourse to teach the disciples to love by following his word, which is also the word of his Father. He also speaks of the sending of the Holy Spirit, to remind them of all he told them, that he leaves them his peace, that they should not be afraid, and that he will return to them. Jesus tells his disciples, "Rejoice that I am going to the Father. I have told you this before it happens, so that when it happens, you may believe."

The other readings also have references to one being sent back, and returning to illuminate the community. In the first reading from Acts, there arose some debate about what must be done by the new Gentile members of the church in order to be saved. So Paul and Barnabas and some others went to the apostles and elders in Jerusalem to get answers. They returned with a letter and with other leaders as witnesses, do give details for "doing what is right." Psalm 67 proclaims, "May God bless us and let his face shine upon us. So may your way be known upon earth." In the second reading, from Revelation, John says, "I saw the new Jerusalem coming down from God, gleaming radiant with the splendor of God. Its temple is the Lord God and the Lamb. It had no need of sun or moon, for the glory of God gave it light."

Joe

> i < May the Word light your way each day!