Missed Missions

Early during Lent, people begin bringing pussy willow branches into the house, placing them in water, and waiting for them to bloom so they can be used on Palm Sunday. Pussy willows have become a symbol of the resurrection and everlasting life.

There is a legend of the pussy willow.

A legend or a fable is a story that doesn't pretend to be historical, but simply teaches a lesson. The events surrounding the suffering and death of Christ gave rise to many legends. A Polish legend says that on Palm Sunday Jesus visited a forest, bare of any foliage because of the harsh winter temperatures. No buds, flowers, ground cover sprigs. The crocus could not even poke through the icy crags. The whole forest was a gloomy gray, the animals wistful, motionless, the birds, silent. Jesus commanded his angels to gather branches of the pussy willow with its cottony buds and adorn his carriage with its boughs. The puffy blossoms shined as silver fur in the morning sunlight. The forest rejoiced to welcome the Lord.

HELP is needed:
Does anyone know who stitched this beautiful picture of St. Francis with the animals?

The 365-Day-Count-Down on March 22 featured the Justine Ward music many of our Sisters were taught and then used for teaching their students how to read music. The POSTs are very limited so here's a little more about Justine Ward.

Justine Bayard Cutting was born on August 7, 1879. In 1901 she married George Cabot Ward. She died on November 27, 1975 in Washington, DC.

Justine was in the process of converting to the Catholic Faith when she read the Motu Proprio of the pope and felt personally touched by it. With the help of God's grace and through assistance of wise and holy instructors, she developed a pedagogy for teaching music to children that would prepare them to develop numerous musical abilities such as ear training, sight singing, composition, transcription, intonation, rhythm, conducting and more, all for the purpose of adequately and beautifully singing sacred music.

Her method was used to promote the use of liturgical chant by teaching children vocal music reading skills so that they would be able to sing the vast repertoire of sacred music which was part of the Roman Catholic Church's tradition. The title of her text is "That All May Sing." Several of her books are contained in our archives and are delightful to look at.

April Trivia Questions

Who named the former Fancy Work Room "Poverello"???

"Poverello" is the name given by the new freshman this year to their new homeroom. During the past year the former gift shop was entirely remodeled.

Who knows what YEAR this happened??

Where was the former Pius X room and what is it now???

In asking this trivia question and looking for clip art, I came across an unknown:

The Poverello Center Inc.

So FYI: The Poverello Center is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing food, shelter, clothing and other essential services to the community's hungry and homeless population in and around Missoula, MT. They work to address the issues of homelessness, hunger, and poverty on all fronts – while fostering dignity and engendering hope.
